The Fox and The Stork Part 2

The Fox arrived at the Stork's house feeling

Very hungry. The Stork laid the table and asked

The Fox to start eating. But the Stork had served the food in long-necked jars!

The Fox tried his best to push his mouth inside the jar, but in vain.

The Fox now realized how the Stork must have felt.

Moral of the story: Like good, our bad deed also comes back to us.
